Trails

Install new flag at Flag Rock

It doesn't look like we are going to be able to install the new flag tomorrow. We have a new system where the flag is attached to a chain. It will no longer be necessary to climb the flag pole to change the flag.

BST update

Ron in on the Bonneville Shoreline Trails Committee along with Jeff Oiler and two others. The BST committee has selected a contractor to perform a NEPA. SWCA out of Salt Lake City is the contractor selected to perform the NEPA. This work should be performed spring 2018. They bid $68,485.00. to perform this work. The hope is to start construction on the trail by the spring of 2019.

Bamberger Connector update

Several loads of crusher fines have been delivered and spread on the upper section of the trail. There have been two eagle scout projects to clean up this trail. Denise Prince lead a project to clean up the puncher vine along the trail. They filled 25 garbage bags with this noxious weed.

Rice Farms Connector

The trail has been approved and is in the final phase of planning.

Vandalism at Farmington Pond

Ron showed pictures of spray paint vandalism at Farmington Pond. It was mentioned that Salt Lake City has a graffiti removal team. Wayne Hansen was mentioned as a point of contact. We discussed rapid clean up as a deterrent to repeated tagging.

Public Relations

City trail way finder signs/signs needed ASAP

The trails committee needs to provide suggestions on where to locate signs throughout the city. Amy suggested coming up with a list of perhaps 20 places to locate the signs. We looked over a city map, discussed the options and came up with a list.

Maps/approval

In October the FTC approved two maps, one for the city building and one for the Parks and Recreation Building.

Dog Poop bag canisters

Amy offered to build some dog poop bag stands. Amy is going to research dog poop canisters.

Fruit Height's bike park

Fruit Height held a meeting to discuss mountain bike trails. Bikers edge donated $20,000 to improve the bike trails at the Kaysville Nature Park. Currently there are 3700 high school age kids involved in mountain bike clubs. Davis High school has 150 students in a mountain bike club. The new Farmington High school already has a mountain bike club and the school still not open. There are not many places to practice and train. If Farmington City can come up with a good location, Prop one can help fund the construction of a mountain bike trails park.

The hill side above the Farmington Pond could be a possible location. Greg Tanner suggested making use of the land along the power line corridor.

Planning

Triumph trail head redesign

We discussed redesigning/re routing the Triumph trail head to address erosion.
